See Your Everyday Magic Challenge

Hi there! I'm so excited to share my expert tips and tricks so you can strengthen your family through pictures. In this free course, I'll teach you how to edit, organize and hold on to your everyday magical moments.

Part One

Why Organize & Print Your Photos?

Research from Chatbooks and HP, based on a survey of 15,591 families, proves that printed photos strengthen families.

Stronger Families

- When looking at printed photos families:

88%

feel closer to each other

Stronger Kids

- When looking at printed photos, kids feel:
  - more connected
  - stronger sense of identity
  - improved imagination
  - increased self-esteem

Stronger Parents

Looking at photos of my family makes me feel like I'm doing a good job as a parent.

See Your Everyday Magic Challenge

I love how easy it is to take amazing photos with my phone. It's so easy to capture our family's everyday magic, but do I really need all 54,028 photos? Sometimes less is more! Here are my go-to tips for cleaning up my camera roll.

Part Two

How To Declutter Your Phone Photos

On Your Phone

- Use an app: Download a free app that deletes duplicates.
- Filter for media: Find your screenshot and burst folders, and delete away.
- Cut clutter: If you have more time, delete any other unwanted photos using the questions below as a guide.
- Print them: Print your favorites into Chatbooks so your family can enjoy your magical memories.

Play the Question Game

When editing down pictures, ask yourself these questions:

- Does it honor someone's memory?
- Does it capture a feeling?
- Is it an everyday moment my family does not want to forget?
- Does it tell a story?

What To Do While You Declutter Your Pics

- Listen to a podcast (like my top-rated podcast, The MomForce!)
- Re-watch your favorite Netflix show
- Sit on the porch and get some sun
- Listen to a new album
- Wait to pick your kiddo up from school

My best advice for organizing your photos is to start today by creating a regular habit of reviewing your photos each week. It only takes a few minutes and your future self will thank you!

Part Three

Create An Ongoing Photo Organizing System

Set Some Goals for a Cleaner Camera Roll

Now is the time to create habits for a cleaner camera roll going forward.

- Once a week spend a few minutes deleting and organizing photos I call it my "Sunday Select"
- Use albums on your phone to organize your photos
- Choose photos from any shared albums to add to your camera roll.
- Be sure to share any photos of friends or family with them.

Always Go For Albums

Here are a few albums I use most.

- Favorites
- Each family member
- Recipes
- Funniest moments of the year
- Vacations

Capture Everyday Magic

Some photos that you'll love having in your Monthbooks

- Sonogram belly
- Funny faces
- Family dinner
- Kids' artwork
- Morning routine
- A child reading a Monthbook

Taking photos of the everyday moments and major milestones of family life is important. But, it's the conversations we have with our family about those photos where the real magic happens!

Part Four

Be Mindful with Memories

What Is Elaborative Reminiscing?

The practice of bringing memories to life through question-based conversations about the past with your kids. Benefits include:

Elaborative Reminiscing

- Better problem solving and resiliency
- Improved self-esteem
- Improved language and literacy skills

Questions To Ask Your Kids While Looking at Photos

- Do you remember where this photo was taken?
- What's happening in this photo?
- Does this photo remind you of another memory?
- How does this photo make you feel?
- Who was there when this was taken?

FUN FACT: It's all about the chat

Printed Photos = Stronger Families*

*Research from Chatbooks and HP, based on a survey of 15,591 families, proves that printed photos lead to confident kids, more engaged parents, and ultimately stronger families.
