

Why Switch to Huntress Managed EDR

Reduce alert fatigue and lower your total cost of ownership with Huntress Managed EDR. Our fully managed EDR comes at a single, affordable price, and is deployable in just minutes. No add-ons, tiers, or tricks—just secure endpoints.

Reduce Noise and False Positives

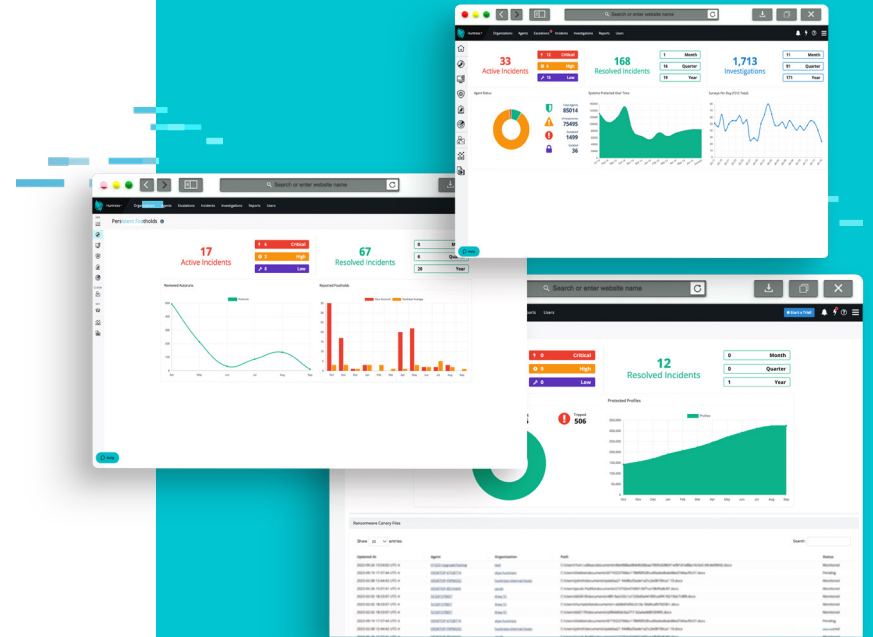

Huntress' human-managed approach means our Security Operations Center (SOC) does the heavy lifting for you. Our experts verify and investigate all threat activity and only alert you when incidents require your attention. With our false positive rate of <1%, we can help you greatly reduce alert fatigue and ensure you don't miss any critical events.

Lower Your Total Cost of Ownership

Huntress is built to elevate your team's efficiency and ROI. With SOC-verified alerts, easy-to-understand reports, and automated remediations that can be executed in one click, we help free up your internal resources to focus on other aspects of your business.

Huntress is also built for all needs and budgets. Our Managed EDR powered by our 24/7 SOC comes at a single affordable price that checks the insurance box. No need for expensive add-ons or staffing in-house overhead; with Huntress, you'll have scalable, top-tier talent in your back pocket.

Huntress has a fantastic product and the team to back it up. Huntress makes it simple and straightforward to manage the EDR and AV side of our security stack. Having every new process or unknown file be investigated by their SOC team is incredibly reassuring.”

Get Instant Expertise and 24/7 Coverage

Huntress offers around-the-clock coverage and management, including weekends and holidays, to ensure your IT environment is secure. More than 50% of the incidents we review occur outside of normal business hours, which is why we staff for 24/7 coverage across six time zones. Hackers can strike at any time; with Huntress, you'll always be ready.

Secure Your Endpoints. Cut Out the Noise.

Unmanaged EDR solutions are inherently noisy. Huntress filters out this noise for you. We distill all ingested EDR data through automation to generate alerts that our SOC analysts review and investigate. In an average month, 0.8% of these alerts are report-worthy. That means peace of mind knowing we'll only notify you when a threat is verified or action is needed—maximizing your security while minimizing your time spent managing alerts.

Huntress Managed EDR delivers advanced endpoint security without the impossible cost, expertise, and personnel burdens created by other solutions.
