Smarter events?

That is where it all began.

Savvy Congress was founded in a time when conferences still meant receiving a binder full of printed papers. Everything was included, until a last-minute change meant the entire set had to be reprinted and redistributed. Of course, this always happens right before the start: inefficient and frustrating.

Digitalisation offered the chance to do this differently. From the belief that events should not only be more efficient but also more accessible, we built our software with that in mind from day one. Our motto: Don't just watch, but participate. That is how Savvy Congress came about.

More than a decade later, we have grown into a trusted technical partner for organisations that want to deliver events with real impact. Our own smart software, combined with personalised support, provides more interaction, deeper insights, and highly engaged participants, whether your event is in person, hybrid, or online.

From member meetings and knowledge events to shareholder gatherings, our software and support help you run events smarter. Discover how we can support your next event in this brochure.

Always the Savvy team by your side

Our greatest strength?
The team behind Savvy.

You get more than smart software. You get a dedicated team that thinks along with you, supports you and makes sure everything works.

Personal, proactive and involved.
From A to Z.

● Easy to use

User friendly tools, intuitive and efficient. No lengthy training needed, just get started right away.

● Secure and reliable

All data in one central place, fully GDPR compliant and safely stored in Europe. You stay in control with complete peace of mind.

● All interactive tools in one platform

Everything works seamlessly together. Not a patchwork of tools, but one smarter platform.

● Technology without worries

From preparation to delivery: we handle the technology. You stay in charge of your event, we make sure everything works. That is why we are there during the event, on-site or online.

● You choose what you need

Will you use the full solution or is just the voting feature enough?

Experience success

With Savvy, you stay in control of every detail, from invitation to evaluation. Whether it is a large conference, a general meeting or a small gathering, you work smarter, keep oversight and save time.

The Savvy team

Our strength? The team that's supporting you.

Savvy is not a standard software platform. What truly sets us apart is the team: event professionals with years of experience. They make the difference.

For every event, we bring together the right expertise. Our people come from both events and tech, a unique combination that provides control and understanding.

We are involved, flexible and always close by. No distant helpdesk, but real people who think with you, act quickly and make things work. Before, during and after your event.

What you can expect from the Savvy team:

1. Personal guidance in every stage of your event
2. One dedicated contact who thinks along with you
3. Experience in both events and software
4. Proactive support, also on-site
5. A team that responds quickly and finds solutions

One solution for every type of event

Savvy solutions in action.

On-site, online or hybrid, Savvy helps you do it smarter.

We regularly support organisations in making their events more efficient, accessible and interactive. Below are examples of what we deliver most often, from large-scale conferences to focused training sessions and secure voting. Each and every case is one where we can help clients effectively and deliver real added value.

What we do best:

Conferences & congresses

General assemblies (GAs) & shareholder meetings (AGMs)

Online events & webinars

Training & accreditation sessions

Interactive video libraries

Complex voting solutions

A professional event starts here

*Choose what you need,
we make it work.*

With the Savvy Congress team and platform, you have everything you need to make your event professional and efficient. The basics are always available: clear and reliable.

Think registration, livestreams, interactive elements, program updates, badges or a video on demand platform. All integrated into one system and ready when you need it.

You choose what you need, and we make it work. From start to finish.

Savvy elements

Everything you need, available the way you want it.

With Savvy, you compose your event based on what you need. You choose the elements that fit your event. That way, you are always in control, with flexibility and without unnecessary extras.

Registration & e-mails

Send invitations, manage registrations and communicate effectively before, during and after your event.

Badges

Personalise, generate and print badges in your own branding. Also available on location.

Online meetings & webinars

Organise meetings on our platform. Ideal for groups of 25 or more. Run interactive sessions that go further than Zoom or Teams.

Livestream

For large, complex or hybrid events. Full service for streaming, technology and on-site support, wherever your audience is. Perfect for multiple locations or an international audience.

Voting

Allow participants to vote, anonymously or by name, on-site or online. From simple polls to formal decision-making. Also useful to quickly gauge member opinions.

Digital interaction

Engage your audience with polls, quizzes, Q&A and feedback. Live, online or on demand.

Video on Demand

Your own branded video environment to share valuable content securely.

Reporting

View participant data and usage statistics. See what really matters to your audience and issue certificates.

Security as a foundation

Control, reliability and protection at every level.

AVG/GDPR

Own platform, own management

Savvy's platform is fully developed and managed in-house. Our servers are in Europe and comply with the strictest GDPR standards.

That means no dependency on third parties, full control of data, access and technology.

You set the security level

Not every event is equally open. For each event, you decide what level of security is needed.

Personal login codes, participant access control, secure voting or temporary content availability: all are possible.

Careful with data

Whatever you organise, from confidential sessions to closed voting, you can be sure information only goes where it should.

Data is not shared or used for other purposes. With us, you make clear agreements on ownership and security.

Collaboration on your terms

A long-term partnership, organising multiple events together, almost always delivers the best results. We grow familiar with each other, think proactively and become an extension of your team.

Not just a supplier for your event, but a partner.

From full-service partnership to stand-alone support.
