 - 3.1.2. In cases where the Hardware Devices consist of SD-WAN CPE (customer premise equipment) devices, the Provisioning Meeting may not be necessary. The Customer shall connect such devices to its existing underlying connectivity network. Instructions are provided to the Customer to complete this connection. The Parties acknowledge and agree that Aptum will not be responsible for outages or Service interruptions resulting from such connection performed by the Customer improperly, any incident attributable to such underlying connectivity network used by the Customer or the Customer’s on-premise wiring. The deployment of the SD-WAN CPE device and the initiation of the SD-WAN service are separate events which are dependent on each other if the SD-WAN CPE device is primary and being installed for immediate use. However, if the device is secondary back-up (intended for installation only if the primary device fails) then the initiation of the Service is not dependent on deployment of the back-up SD-WAN CPE device.
 - 3.1.3. On early termination of the Services, the balance owing on any financed device shall become immediately due and payable and must be paid off in full.
- 4.2. To the extent that warranty terms for Hardware Devices are not expressly set forth in an applicable Service Order and if Hardware Devices consist of SD-WAN CPE devices, those devices shall be supported by a twelve (12) month limited warranty (“Warranty Period”). During the Warranty Period, the SD-WAN CPE device manufacturer shall, in its reasonable discretion, fix any device confirmed by Aptum to be faulty or, alternatively supply Customer with a new or refurbished replacement SD-WAN CPE device. Any fixed or replaced device shall be covered by the limited-warranty for the remainder of the Warranty Period. - 7.2.1. The maximum available connectivity network bandwidth the Customer is able to utilize from the Services is limited to the size of that fibre access connectivity circuit specified on the Service Order. For example, if the fibre access connectivity circuit is specified as one (1) Gbps (gigabyte per second) on the Service Order, then the Customer bandwidth utilization arising from the Services will be limited to one (1) Gbps. If Customer has subscribed to multiple bandwidth types (i.e. Dedicated Internet and Ethernet) on the same one (1) Gbps fibre access connectivity circuit, then the total bandwidth utilization by the Customer at any given time will not exceed one (1) Gbps because that one (1) Gbps fibre access connectivity circuit is been shared across multiple Services (i.e. Dedicated Internet and Ethernet).

7.2.2. Using the above example, if the Customer subscribes to Services that provides one (1) Gbps of Ethernet bandwidth and 500 Mbps of Dedicated Internet bandwidth on the same one (1) Gbps fibre access connectivity circuit, Customer will still be limited to a maximum of one (1) Gbps of bandwidth throughput.

Requests to have Aptum or a contractor available on a standby basis for support of a customer-initiated move or change to their Service(s) may be subject to additional charges.

11. Substituted Service Requests:

11.1. Aptum however, shall employ commercially reasonable efforts to notify the Customer of such termination and to renew or extend access to the affected Service Site or, at the Customer's request, develop a plan for migration of the Services to an alternate Service Site.
